

ed. 127
I was born in Leicester, Sept 6/54.

Dear Mr. Garrison -

I am thunderstruck at the flight of time! I hardly was aware September had come in, and here 'tis the 6th day; but this is not what I set out to write you about!

Yesterday I had another letter from Mary Estlin - written to be sent by W. W. Brown; but he had delayed his sailing until Sept. 2<sup>d</sup> (which will bring him here about the 15th) - so she sent it by mail. Enclosed was a note to you, which I send herewith. - She also sent me an extract from a letter to her from Chamerovzow, in which he seems to own that he has been very careless, if not something more; towards W. W. Brown (i.e. in regard to P. Pillsbury's letter from Paris to Mr. Chamerovzow, wh. P. forwarded to Brown's care in London.) Mr. Ch. seems to have a frank & open spirit, in owning his fault. - Miss E. also sent me a copy of her father's letter to Mr. Cheison respecting the Manchester Conference. It was not designed for publication, I presume, & was not read at the Conference; - I rather think was not rec<sup>d</sup>. by Mr. Cheison till the Conference was over.

Both of these I send you, that you may be "posted up" as to the present state of affairs there.

I should like to receive these from you - also the Cham<sup>3rd</sup> correspondence with Miss E. and her note to me thereupon, which you took from here, - also, Steinthal's & Pillsbury's notes wh. I have recently sent to you, - when I am next in Boston, which will probably be in course of next week; but I cannot now say positively what day.

Also - if you have half an hour or so to spare, please remember that letter to M. Dorval - Dorval.

Truly Yrs, S. May Jr.

Yesterday I had another letter from Boston - written to be sent by W. W. Brown; but he has delayed his sailing until Sept. 1st (which will bring him here about the 12th) - so the letter is by mail.
Enclosed was a note to you, which I had previously
- She also sent me an extract from a letter to her from Chambray, in which he seems to own that he has been very careless, if not something more, towards W. W. Brown (he is engaged to J. J. Brown's letter from Paris to Mr. Chambray, who I forwarded to Brown, care of London) Mr. B. seems to have a frank & open spirit, in owning his fault.
Miss E. also sent me a copy of her father's letter to Mr. Chapin respecting the Annual Conference, it was not desired for publication. I presume, & was not read at the Conference. I rather think that of these I send you, that you may be "put up" as to the present state of affairs there. I shall like to receive these for you - also the Chron. Correspondence with Miss E. and her note to me thereupon, which you sent from here - also, I think, of Robinson; which Mr. Brown recently sent to you.
